

AutoGrow: Automatic Layer Growing in Deep Convolutional Networks

Wen et al. | KDD 2020

This fixture summarizes a real paper on automatic depth discovery.

AutoGrow starts from a shallow seed network, grows layers when accuracy improves, and stops when additional depth no longer helps under the learned policy.

The paper reports strong accuracy-computation trade-offs across several datasets.