

Growing Tiny Networks: Spotting Expressivity Bottlenecks and Fixing Them Optimally

Verbockhaven et al. | TMLR 2024

This fixture captures a real paper on growing small networks during training.

The method detects expressivity bottlenecks from backpropagation signals and adds neurons where the current architecture cannot follow the functional gradient.

The paper reports CIFAR results that match larger models with less manual search.